Time Management as Personal Management (Managing Oneself in Time): by Francis P. Xavier, SJ

Time management is to discern and to distinguish what is urgent and important and then to prioritize so that one can concentrate on things that need one's personal attention and concentration. Time management is not just external or result-oriented, but is also internally based. In this work, a formula with ingredients of personal attitude and aptitude with the hope that one will be able to achieve much within a short time is evolved, for time management is just managing oneself in time.

The purpose of this little book is that of shedding more light on our daily prayers to prevent them from becoming trite through constant repetition, and thus extend their scope. Liturgical texts as well as popular devotions have biblical overtones which render more explicit explanation by pointing to and commenting on some relevant passages from Scripture. Among the many books on prayer this one will find a modest place, and prove useful to priests, religious and devout laity. It is a translation of Signore, insegnaci a pregare, published by the Vatican Press.

The ESV-CE Bible is adapted from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible.
